THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

A handsome and attractive woman strolled into the office of one of our leading physicians a few days ago, armed with a note that had passed the date of maturity, the last payment upon an article purchased by the physician.

"Good morning," greeted the physician, with his usual courtesy, "what can I do for you?"

"Quite well," replied the lady sternly. "I have a note which is due and have come for payment."

"What," replied the physician, scanning the slip of paper that had been handed him closely, "Why, I've paid that and here's a receipt from your company," and forthwith produced a receipt in full.

"No such a thing; that receipt's no good and I am here to insist upon an immediate settlement of this note," said the lady in angry tones which completely took the physician off his guard and he backed into a corner.

Overcoming the excitement of the moment he "come back" with the retort: "Well, you've got all that's coming to you."

"Nothing of the sort," exclaimed the feminine creature.

Smack! and there was an impression of a small right hand upon the left cheek of the doctor.

"Wow," shrieked the doctor. The unearthly yell threw the occupants of the Elks building in a state of excitement, and Bob Spencer grabbed a bung starter and made for the front door, expecting trouble.

Smarting under the sting of the blow the doctor rushed into an adjoining room to the telephone and gave the crank a vicious turn.

"Number?" came from the central office.

"Gimme 13 central, and be quick about it too," were the words which went over the wire.

"Fire?" asked central sweetly.

"No, no, 13 quick, I must have them immediately, don't keep me waiting, can't you see I'm in an awful hurry. (Excited tones.)"

"Dynamite explosion?" calmly questioned the operator.

"Dynamite, fire, hell no, worse; this-- (Click! Buzz!) Hello, hello, is this the fire department?" quired the doctor.

"Yes, this is the fire department," came from the other end of the line.

"What's wanted?"

"Chief Elgin, Link or any of the other cops there?" came in excited words.

"Yes, this is Elgin," was the reply.

"Elgin, yes, yes; well, you'll do, you're the fellow I want. Come quick, down to my office. Don't wait a minute for I'm greatly in need of your protection. No de--" Bing, up went the receiver and the police chief wore a puzzled look.

"Wonder who that could have been," was his soliloquy. "Must have been Eph January," and he put in a call for the police judge.

"Not me," was the answer to the police chief's query after he had secured the police judge. Now the physician in question is making his rounds with a Grump hammer knocking the police force because he could not get police protection.

Rain Helps Break Drouth.

Beginning early Friday morning and continuing throughout the day the Blue Grass section was favored by good showers of rain and the long drouth of the past several weeks seems to be at least retarded. The rain was general throughout this section of the State and served as a great relief to the growing crops and vegetation which have suffered much from the long continued dry spell. The rain began falling at 1 o'clock Friday morning and during the day a gentle rain fell interspersed with heavy showers at intervals.

WHAT CURES ECZEMA?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases, that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded in D. D. D., can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it—and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves unhesitatingly recommend D. D. D. Prescription.

Because—We know that it gives instant relief to that torturing itch.
Because—D. D. D. starts the cure at the foundation of the trouble.
Because—it cleanses, soothes and heals the skin.

Because—it enables Nature to repair the ravages of the disease.

Because—The records of ten years of complete cures of thousands of the most serious cases show that D. D. D. is today recognized as the absolutely reliable Eczema cure.

Drop into our store today, just to talk over your case with us.

LIQUID CURES ECZEMA WHERE SALVE FAILS

In regard to skin diseases medical authorities are now agreed on this:

Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid.

WASH THE GERMS OUT. A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D. D. D. Prescription, penetrates to the disease germs and destroys it, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.

A 25-cent trial bottle will start the cure, and give you instant relief.

Negro Burned by Mob.

While 3,000 men, women and children stood by, shouting their approval, Peter Carter, a negro, who had previously been captured by three members of his own race, and identified as the man who attacked Mrs. Minnie Spraggins, wife of a farmer, was burned to death on a brush pile in the Main street of Purcell, Okla., Friday afternoon.

Deputy Sheriff Hayes and Under Sheriff Farris, who attempted to rescue the negro from the crowd, were overpowered and locked up in the court house.

New Comet Will Soon be Visible

The new comet recently discovered by Dr. William R. Brooks, of Hobart College, and named by him the Brooks Comet, has become so bright as to be seen with opera glasses or small telescope, and will soon be visible to the naked eye. The comet is now in constellation Cygnus, about three degrees north of Alpha, the top star in the Northern Cross, directly overhead in the early evening. Motion is northwest. Dr. Brooks says the comet is coming nearer and will continue to grow brighter for several weeks.

Cross of Honor Conferred on Nephew.

In the presence of the body of his dead uncle, Rev. Father Thomas P. Major, former Catholic priest and ex-Confederate veteran, Stewart Auld, a youth of Indianapolis, had conferred on him Thursday the Cross of Honor which had been earned by Father Major for his distinguished services with General Morgan's command.

The rule of the descent of the Cross of Honor is that it goes from the veteran to his eldest son, but in this case young Auld was the only surviving male member of Father Major's family. The impressive service was performed in accordance with Father Major's wish, and by the Confederate veterans of Franklin county.

Stole $6,200, Giving All to the Poor.

Richard Parcharz, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was sent to the Tombs for one month last week on a conviction for grand larceny in the second degree.

Parcharz can be sentenced to several years imprisonment, but it is thought he will not be punished after staying a month in prison. He has a wife and three children. The defendant stole $6,200 of his firm's money in four years to gain honor for himself, spending all the money on the poor and orphans. Some of his friends paid back part of the sum and the firm, with which he was employed, will take him back to work out the remainder.

Barrel Gong.

As a change from the Oriental gong and the one composed of pipes there is the barrel gong. This is made of brass in the form of a small barrel, and when struck with the felt hammer emits a deep, rich sound, much like a bell. Each end is tuned to a different pitch, while a round disk of brass set in the top sends forth still another sound.

Quails are Plentiful.

There is good news for the hunters this year. The doves and quail were more numerous this year than in any recent year, according to the reports of farmers and hunters who have been out into the country. And this is true around the big towns of the State, too. Many farmers report the meadows filled with quail. Another thing bad for the crops but good for the quail is the grasshoppers which are unusually thick. The young birds thrive and grow fat on grasshoppers. The farmers are glad to have quail, and nearly everyone is careful that the birds are well protected on his farm. Quail are great destroyers of insects and save the farmers thousands of dollars every season. The dry weather, according to the hunters and farmers, is the cause of the unusual number of quail. The birds build their nests on the ground in clumps of weeds and grass. Many quails are drowned just after being hatched or even before if there should be an unusual amount of rain. The dry weather came just as the quail and doves were hatching out, and the rain stayed away long enough to allow the little ones to grow large enough to take care of themselves. At many points farmers report larger coveys of quail than they had seen in recent years. Twenty quail in a covey are not unusual. Quail can only be shot during the six weeks following November 1st and no hunting is allowed just prior to November 15.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

ALL MY PIMPLES GONE

Girl Tells How a Blotchy Skin Was Cleansed By a Simple Wash.

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Minnie Pickard of Altamahaw, N. C. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago."

D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases, that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, blackheads, and all other minor forms of skin impurities.

The fact is, that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes to the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded there is no wash for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble. D. D. D. is pleasant to use, perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. A 25-cent bottle will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

THE KING'S CHAMPION.

Westminster Hall, Where His Challenge Used to Be Uttered.

Westminster hall, in London, was built originally by King William Rufus (1050-1100) and tradition goes that the oak of its ceilings was brought from the forest of Shillelagh, in Ireland, timber which possessed peculiar properties rendering it hateful to spiders and their webs. Richard II. transformed the hall. Leaving the old walls standing, he buttressed them strongly and raised over them the magnificent roof of oak which is still extant and intact. It is ninety-two feet high. The length of the hall is 290 feet, its breadth sixty-eight feet. It was large enough for mounted men to enter in order to challenge any who would dispute the rights of the king, a ceremony that is quaintly described as follows on the occasion of the coronation of Richard III. and Queen Anne in 1483:

"In the afternoon the King and Queen entered the hall, and the King sat in the middle, and ye Queen on ye left side of the table, and on every side of her stood a Countess, holding a cloth of Pleasance when she listed for to drink. And on the right hand of ye King sat ye Archbishop of Canterbury. The ladies sat all on one side in ye middle of the hall, and at the table against them sat the Chancellor and all the Lords. And at the table next the cupboard sat ye Mayor of London. * * * At the second course came into ye hall Sr. Robert Dimmock, the King's Champion, making Proclamation that whoever would say that King Richard was not lawfull King, he would fight with him at the utterance, and threw down his gauntlet, and then all the hall cried King Richard.

"And then one brought him a cup of wine covered, and when he had drunk he cast out the drinke and departed with the cup. * * * At the end of the dinner the Mayor of London served the King and Queen with sweete wine, and had of each of them a cup of gold and a cover of gold. And by that time that all was done, it was darke night, and so the King returned to his chamber, and every man to his lodging."

The last time that the hall was the scene of the challenge of the king's champion was at the coronation of George IV.

Bell With the Wall of a Child.
A queerly shaped gong which occupies a position of honor in the center of the city of Seoul, Korea, is said to be one of the largest in the world and is called "the bell with the wall of a child in its voice." When first cast the bell sounded with a harsh and cracked note, and the superstitious emperor, fearing an ill omen, consulted with his magicians. These gentlemen held a long confab and finally stated that the bell would never sound right until a live child was given to it. The mass was then melted again, and a live baby was thrown into the molten metal. The wall of agony uttered by the little tot as the bronze engulfed it seemed to be repeated every time the bell was tolled, and today the Koreans still claim that the wall of a child can be heard in the voice of the metal.

But She Wasn't Satisfied.

Lady Jekyll, who was fond of puzzling herself and others with such questions as had been common enough a generation before her, in the days of the "Athenian Oracle," asked William Whiston of bermed name and eccentric memory, one day at her husband's table, to resolve a difficulty which occurred to her in the Mosaic account of the creation.

"Since it pleased God, sir," she said, "to create the woman out of the man, why did he form her out of the rib rather than any other part?"

Whiston scratched his head and answered: "Indeed, madam, I do not know, unless it be that the rib is the most crooked part of the body."

"There," her husband said, "you have it now! I hope you are satisfied."

—Southey's Doctor.

Colors Warm and Cold.

One clear, cold winter's day Benjamin Franklin spread a number of handkerchiefs carefully on a level stretch of snow. One of the handkerchiefs was black, another white and the others of various colors. Some time afterward he returned and removed the handkerchiefs carefully one by one, measuring the depth of snow under each. Under the black handkerchief he found that the snow had melted considerably; under a red handkerchief, almost as much; under a blue handkerchief, very little, and under the white one scarcely any. By this simple experiment he learned that color has a great deal to do with the warmth of clothing. White sheds the sun's heat almost as well as an oilskin sheds water; blue is nearly as heat proof; green is less so; yellow is a warm color, red a still warmer color, while black soaks up almost all the sun's heat that strikes it. Make the experiment some time and you will see why black clothes are out of place in the summer time and white ducks in winter.—Christian Herald.

What She Didn't Understand.

A Boston girl who was watching a farmer milk a cow adjusted her glasses and said: "It is all very plain except that I don't understand how you turn it off."

Have to Learn to Spell.

More than half of the young women at Wellesley college have been found deficient in ability to spell well. Six hundred students are to give up their Saturday afternoons as well as other recitation periods of the week to drills in orthography.

Experience Boy Will Remember.

While exploring one of the big disused Martello towers, near Waterford harbor, Ireland, which was formerly used for military purposes, a boy named Charles Cummins had a terrible experience a few days ago. When he pushed open one heavy iron door it suddenly banged and shut on his fingers. In agony, he shouted for help, but he was kept a helpless prisoner all night, and till late next morning, when he was rescued by a passer by.

The Retort Sarcastic.

"That new family next door borrowed our ax again this morning," his wife told Jones.

"Well, why did you lend it to them," he complained.

"How could I help it?"

"You might have given them some kind of an excuse."

Mrs. Jones waxed sarcastic.

"Yes," she snapped, "I might have told them that you were going to use it—or some other crazy, impossible thing."—Youngstown Telegram.

The Thunderer's Logographs.

Some of the most serious riots recorded in the printing trades occurred in 1814, when the London Times was first printed by steam, and a number of workmen discharged through this innovation sought to wreck the office in Printing House square. Long before this the Times had been printed logographically—that is to say, the proprietor conceived the happy idea of having words cast entire to save the compositors the trouble of collecting type. The logographs most in demand were: Dreadful, robbery, atrocious outrage, fearful calamity, alarming explosion, loud cheers, interesting female. One hundredweight of each of these was always kept in stock. Interesting females no longer figure in newspaper reports, but otherwise the clichés of journalism seem to have altered but little.—London Chronicle.

Medicine in Asia Minor.

Most of the people living in the villages and towns of Asia Minor, know nothing about remedies of any kind, except the few made of roots and herbs growing nearby, and a physician's services are rarely called for; consequently the mortality among the people is very great. In the larger cities and communities on the main roads there are many physicians.

Pavilion Is Kaiser's Design.

Over the fountain Augusta Victoria at Hamburg is to be built a pavilion after the style of a Roman temple. This has been designed by the German emperor, who has also composed the following inscription for the fountain: "Nymph, dispense the healing waters to the sick; may God restore them, cured and rejoicing, to their families."

Icelanders' Gloves.

In so cold a climate as Iceland the glove must be put off or on as rapidly and easily as possible; so it is made without fingers, and in order that no time may be wasted in distinguishing between right and left all gloves have two thumbs. You simply thrust your hand into the first glove that comes and your thumb immediately finds its way. There are, of course, drawbacks in the matter of appearance, for the dangling idle thumb looks untidy.—London Chronicle.

Killed Two Foxes With One Shot.

While Alexander Thomson, a game-keeper, was out on Benyvrackie hill, Perthshire, Scotland, some days ago, he came upon two dog foxes fighting. He fired at the pair, with the remarkable result that both were killed by the one shot.

Books the True University.

"The true university of these days," says Carlyle, "is a collection of books." The man who is not brought into intimate contact with books in his youth, who has not learned to love them and how to use them, suffers a loss which it is almost impossible to make good.

In the Future.

Some years hence the men now known as farmers may be referred to as "the wealthy land owning class," and cease to be the subjects of special solicitude.

Courage and Cowardice.

Fear is far more painful to cowardice than death to true courage.—Sidney.

THE BOURBON NEWS

SWIFT CHAMP, Editor.

PARIS, KENTUCKY

Judge O'Rear's Insincerity.

Judge O'Rear has never made a speech since the campaign opened that he has not questioned the sincerity of the Democratic candidates, and the platform upon which they are standing. He is evidently of the opinion that if he can get it firmly in the minds of the voters that he is the only candidate who is in earnest that he will gain enough votes thereby to insure his election. It is only necessary to cite one case to prove that Judge O'Rear has not a sincere bone in his body. Take his humiliating surrender to Senator Bradley as an example.

In a speech at Lexington before the Republican State Convention met he did not hesitate to charge that the "third house" was guilty of corruptly influencing the election of United States Senators. He did not mention Bradley's name, but everybody knew he meant Governor Bradley, and it is a matter within the knowledge of a number of people that Bradley called Judge O'Rear to account for making the accusation. When the Republican Convention met and Bradley's wide popularity with Republicans was shown, as it is always shown in State conventions, Judge O'Rear saw the necessity of placating the real leader and did it in a way that reflected both on his courage and his sincerity. He not only pronounced Bradley "the greatest living Kentuckian," but assured the delegates that his election to the United States Senate was without a blot of a stain.

When Bradley was elected by recreant Democrats influenced by a corrupt lobby Judge O'Rear was on the Court of Appeals bench and sat day after day beneath the same roof where this scandalous conspiracy was carried out. If he did not have personal knowledge of how it was done he was in position to have known what every intelligent person in Frankfort knew—that Bradley could not have won without a deal with the lobby that would not bear the light of day. Judge O'Rear's career shows that he always keeps his ears to the ground and his nose lifted in the direction of the wind, with an eye peeled for the main chance, and if he did not see and hear and smell what was going on at Frankfort during that disgraceful session which culminated in Bradley's election, then he lacks the intelligence and the foresight to be Governor of Kentucky, and it would not be safe to trust him in that high office for the lobby would steal the State House from under his eyes without his knowledge.

Nature Lover's Anniversary.

John James Audubon, the naturalist, was born May 4, 1782, and the following, from his autobiography, explains his love for all of nature: "The productions of nature soon became my playmates. I felt that an intimacy with them not consisting of friendship merely, but bordering on frenzy, must accompany my steps through life."

Year's Salary Put Up by Republican.

The Louisville Times says that the Republicans know the need of the "wherewith" for campaign purposes and propose to have a plenty of the "wherewith" along, is shown from the action of a recent meeting of the Republican state candidates at which they, upon the suggestion, it is said, of Judge O'Rear, the candidate for Governor, agreed to put up a sum equal to a year's salary that each would receive if elected to the offices. This would bring the sum of $30,410, made up as follows: Governor, $6,500; Secretary of State, $3,000; Auditor, $3,600; Treasurer, $3,600; Attorney General, $4,000; Superintendent of Public Instruction, $2,500; Clerk of the Court of Appeals, $4,000, and Lieutenant Governor, $710, salary for one term of the Legislature as president of the Senate.

Why the Earth Was So Named.

The name earth is derived from an old verb, "ear," which meant "to plow," and was in use at the time the Bible was translated under King James. Earth signifies, accordingly, what can be plowed.

Stout Will Not Oppose Carroll.

Following the meeting of the Democratic Committee for the Fifth Appellate Judicial district in Lexington (last week), positive announcement was made by Circuit Judge Robert L. Stout, of Versailles, that he would not under any circumstances oppose Judge John D. Carroll, the incumbent, who is already announced for re-election. Judge Stout's name has been prominently mentioned as a candidate, but his announcement sets at rest his reported candidacy, and insures a clear track, it is believed, for the re-nomination of Judge Carroll.

Judge Stout said that he had been much gratified over the tender of support from his friends in various sections of the district, but that his physical condition is such as to preclude arduous canvassing, even were he disposed to get into the race, and for this reason he would not oppose Judge Carroll. Though far from being a well man, Judge Stout is much improved in health and is back on the bench with his old time vigor.

DEATHS.

—Mrs. J. T. McCauley, Sr., aged seventy-two years, died at the home of her husband in Cynthia Thursday. She was formerly Miss Spillman, of Bourbon county, and has been married twice, her first husband was Mr. Holt. To that union two sons survive, John Holt, of Cynthia, and Owen Holt, of Dakota. Of the latter marriage her husband and five children survive. Dow McCauley, Mrs. Luther Mastin, of Harrison county; Harry McCauley, Mrs. Harry Maffett and Miss Nancy McCauley, of Cynthia. The funeral was held from the residence Friday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Messrs. W. E. Ellis and S. H. Burgess. Mrs. McCauley was a member of a well-to-do family, her husband was a prominent farmer. Mr. McCauley is an ex-Magistrate and has been identified with numerous public enterprises.

—Mr. Wm. Stanfield, aged about 60 years, died on Mr. Jos. M. Hall's farm, near this city, Wednesday. The burial took place Thursday at Old Union.

—Lucille, the eight-months-old daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Biddle, died at the residence of Squire and Mrs. J. T. Ingram on South Main street Friday afternoon.

BIRTHS.

—Born, yesterday to the wife of Ray Borland, a son.

—Born, Thursday night, in Richmond, to the wife of Mr. L. L. Smith, of this city, a daughter. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Ollie Ashbrook.

MATRIMONIAL.

—Miss Bessie L. Hoskins, a popular young lady of Nicholas county, and Prof. Otis L. Mullikin, a prominent educator of Mason county, were married in Millersburg Friday.

RELIGIOUS.

—Services at the Episcopal church Sunday morning at 10:45 and afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. J. M. Maxon.

THEATRICAL.

—Announcement was made in New York that Klaw Erlanger in October will present Miss Charlotte Walker in a dramatization by her husband, Mr. Eugene Walter, of Mr. John Fox, Jr.'s novel, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." The play is in four acts and will retain the title of the book. Miss Walker will play the role of June, who is a heroine among the people of the Kentucky mountains. Three of the acts are laid in mountain passes and retreats and one is laid in a small Kentucky village. The star will be supported by a large company, as Mr. Walter's play admits of an elaborate production.

—Mr. Charles O'Neil and Miss Ollie Pickett, of Lexington, were united in marriage Thursday in that city. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pickett, who formerly resided in this city.

Visits Frankfort.

Mr. John Smith, formerly of this city was called to Frankfort to attend the funeral of Father Thomas Major. Of him the Frankfort News says: "John S. Smith, now of Indianapolis, but formerly the popular Commonwealth's Attorney of this district, came yesterday to attend the funeral of his cousin, Father Thomas S. Major. Mr. Smith is practicing law in his new home and his friends will be glad to know that he has succeeded in establishing a lucrative practice although he has lived in Indianapolis but a few years. 'John Smith,' as all his friends delight to call him, always has a cheerful greeting for his friends and is one of the best story tellers that Kentucky ever produced."

Public Schools Will Open As Scheduled.

A statement appeared in the Democrat Saturday, August 26, regarding a probable delay in the opening of the public schools, and giving as cause therefor an ill water supply, is unofficial. The schools will open as scheduled so far as interference on the part of the Health Board is concerned, unless in the meantime an examination of the water supply reveals a danger. Due notice will be given in such event.

The Board is decidedly on the side of the children in this matter and will lend its best endeavors in safeguarding their interests. The school will be disinfected; the water analyzed, and all other matters pertaining to the healthfulness of the pupils and teachers, properly coming under the supervision of the Health Board will receive necessary attention.

A. H. KELLER,

Health Officer.

By order of the Board.

Sold Seven Fine Yearlings.

The well known Bourbon county turfman, Amos Turney, and John McCafferty, the ex-jockey, who have recently returned from Canada, closed negotiations Thursday for seven of the best bred yearlings to be had in the Blue Grass, the youngsters being bought from Messrs. Garrett D. Wilson, O. H. Chenault and C. W. Moore. From Mr. Wilson they secured a chestnut colt by Stalwart—Northumbria, a bay colt by Stalwart from Torrid and a brown colt by Marta Santa—Tineup. From O. H. Chenault a chestnut colt by Russell, out of La Pour, dam of Colloquy, etc., and a chestnut colt by the same sire out of S. G. P., a full sister to Flying Dutchman. From Mr. Moore he got a bay colt by McGee, out of Jessie L., and a bay filly by McGee, out of Interwoven.

The youngsters will be trained here this fall and early spring. By Mr. McCafferty. Mr. McCafferty already has some two or three colts of his own breeding and possibly some others may be added later, making a stable of some twelve or fifteen colts.

"Black Patti" Coming.

The Black Patti Musical Comedy Company, which is recognized as one of the most popular and successful stage attractions in the United States, presenting a varied style of entertainment, will be seen at the Grand on Tuesday, September 5.

The company consists of forty African-Americans, headed by Mme. Sissieretta Jones, popularly known as the Black Patti, and considered to be the most accomplished singer of her race, and "Happy" Julius Glenn, the unexcelled droll comedian, reputed to be the funniest colored man alive. Black Patti has appeared with great success in Europe, singing in Paris, Berlin, St. Petersburg, London and other musical centers, and enjoys the distinction of having sung by command for the present King of Great Britain. Her success in the United States with the Black Patti show covers a period of fifteen years. During that time she has appeared before the largest audiences that ever assembled to pay homage to a diva. At Madison Square Garden she attracted an audience numbering over 16,000, and at the great Pittsburgh Exposition 23,000 assembled to hear her sing.

She has been the stellar attraction for fifteen consecutive seasons, and the unprecedented success of this company is due in a large measure, to the remarkable vocal accomplishments of this distinguished artist. There are two score other singers, dancers, comedians, etc., comprising the Black Patti Musical Comedy Company who appear in a stage show that is as varied as it is entertaining, and the kind that is understood and enjoyed without the aid of a libretto, or an interpreter. It is a rapid-fire medley of song, story, dance with negro melody happily interspersed and climaxed by selections from the standard operas.

School Opening.

Mrs. Sutherland will open her private school on September 4 for classification. Work will begin September 11. Number of pupils limited. Your patronage solicited. 15 St

Last Week of Vaudeville.

On next Saturday night the vaudeville season at the Paris Grand will come to a close. During this week Manager Proter has secured some excellent attractions. The bill last night consisted of Billy Falls, one of the best single acts ever seen in Paris. His act is one continuous scream, and if you have a chronic case of the blues Mr. Falls will cure you with one application of his laugh treatment.

Miss Birdie Wollstein, operatic vocalist, made her usual big hit. The Great Wilbur, ventriloquist, introducing the dancing doll, has an act entirely different from the ordinary ventriloquist. It is by far the best act of the kind seen at the Grand during this season. The above program will be presented again tonight, and on tomorrow night there will be an entire change of program.

School Opening.

E. M. Costello's school, Paris Academy, will open Monday, September 4. Thorough training and conscientious work in English, Mathematics, the Classics, English Literature and History. Number pupils limited. aug 8 22 sep 1

Social at Hutchison.

The Young People's Society of the Methodist church at Hutchison, will give a social Thursday evening, August 31. Music, speaking and refreshments will be the order of the evening, and all who attend are promised a good time.

Opening of the Comet Next Monday.

After a thorough overhauling, decorating and painting, both inside and out, the Comet Theatre will be thrown open to the public on next Monday night for the season of 1911-12. While in Cincinnati recently Messrs. Porter and Shea purchased one of the latest improvements in curtains for the pictures. It is called the aluminum curtain, and is a wonderful improvement over the old muslin sheet. The pictures are a hundred per cent brighter and the figures seem to stand out from the curtain.

Another improvement made and one which will be most appreciated by the public is the class of pictures to be shown. Believing that the people of Paris and the surrounding country want the best and are willing to pay for it, the management has contracted for practically first run pictures. In the past while the pictures have been uniformly good, they have been from sixty days to six months old. Consequently have been full of streaks and dirt, commonly called "rain." The service which will be run commencing next Monday will be just one week old and will comprise all the latest releases of the Independent Service. It will be an innovation in the moving picture line to Paris.

Big Barbecue September 14.

Judge A. B. Titton, chairman of the Nicholas County Democratic Executive Committee, has been notified by Hon. Rufus H. Vansant, chairman of the Democratic State Campaign Committee, that September 14 has been decided upon as the day for the Democratic barbecue, to be held at Blue Lick Springs.

In the letter it is stated that the entire Democratic state ticket, or all the nominees for the various State offices will be present and deliver speeches. Efforts are being made to secure Governor Wilson of New Jersey, Governor Harmon of Ohio, Congressman Underwood and Speaker Champ Clark. Congressman Ollie James will be present, as will all of the Democratic members of Congress from Kentucky.

The locals journeyed to Lexington Saturday afternoon and were defeated in a one-sided contest by a score of 9 to 1.

The locals assisted the Lexington crew to some extent, by pulling off a few bone-head plays that ruined their chances to count runs, while the Colts, favored by a lucky turn hit at the right time.

Hauser, who heretofore held full sway against the Colts, went the route once to often, with the result that after he had traversed the distance of five innings during which time the Colts had pounded out seven hits, which yielded eight runs, he was taken out and Maxwell finished the game in fine shape allowing but three hits and one run.

The Bourbonites hit Robbins equally as many times as their opponents did either Hauser and Maxwell, but the Colts were ever ready in pinches and pulled out of some tight places. The score:

Paris . . . 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 Lexington . . . 0 2 0 2 4 1 0 0 x-9 Batteries—Paris, Hauser, Maxwell and Mayer; Lexington, Robbins and Sewell. Hits—Paris 10, Lexington 10. Errors—Paris 3, Lexington 2. Earned runs—Paris 1, Lexington 5. Two base hits—Maxwell, Yancey. Bases on balls—Hauser 4, off Robbins 3. Stolen bases—Harrell, Baschang, Viox 2, Eddington, Sewell. Struck out—by Hauser 6, by Maxwell 2, by Robbins 5. Left on bases—Paris 10, Lexington 5. Sacrifice hits—McKernan, Kuhlman. Double plays—Viox to Badger, McKernan to Barnett, Harrell to Barnett. "Cyclone" Jack Scheneberg, accomplished the defeat of the Colts in the last game of the season with that club at Lexington Sunday afternoon, and by so doing put the locals one game further in the lead for the pennant and won his tenth consecutive game for Paris since his advent in the Blue Grass League this season.

The game was intensely interesting but ragged in spots and featured by Scheneberg's pitching. For the first two innings the big Paris hurler was as wild as a March hare, and Mayer had all he could do to stop some of the wild heaves. However when the third session rolled around he assumed complete control of the situation and checked the Colts to such an extent that thereafter they were unable to get a man around.

On the other hand the locals hit Vallandigham from the start, touching the Lexington heavier for ten safe drives. The locals put up a splendid exhibition in the field, the work of McKernan being a prominent feature. The Colts counted one run in each the first and second innings, which were due directly to the wildness of Scheneberg, but when the Paris hurler assumed control he had the Yankee crew at his mercy. Paris tied the contest in the fourth and fifth and so it remained until the eighth, which proved to be the fatal round. Goodman grounded to Viox and Barnett singled to right, Barnett pilfered second and on Sewell's low throw took third. Maxwell fanned the wind. Kuhlman scored on Chapman's single. Scheneberg fanned.

The Colts looked dangerous in the ninth when Robbins hit the first ball pitched for two bases, Vallandigham fanned and Baschang bounded to McKernan, Robbins taking third. Smykal sent a high one to Barnett for the last out. The score:

Paris . . . 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 2 4 Lexington . . . 1 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 Batteries—Paris Scheneberg and Mayer; Lexington Vallandigham and Sewell and Ellis. Hits—Paris 10 Lexington 7. Errors—Paris 1 Lexington 3. Earned runs—Paris 2. Two base hits—Robbins Baschang. Home run—Chapman Bases on balls—off Scheneberg 4. Stolen bases—Viox Harrell Kuhlman. Struck out—by Vallandigham 5 by Scheneberg 8. Left on bases—Lexington 8 Paris 8. Sacrifice hits—Smykal Sewell Mayer. Sacrifice fly—Goodman. Passed balls—Mayer 2. First base on errors—Lexington 1 Paris 2. Time—1:25. Umpire—Kane. Frankfort 2 Maysville 1; second game Maysville 6 Frankfort 0. Richmond 7 Winchester 3.

MONDAY.

Rain at Richmond yesterday afternoon prevented the game between the Bourbonites and Pioneers. The game between Winchester and Lexington was called off on account of rain. The only game to be played in the league was between Frankfort and Maysville which resulted in a score of 4 to 2 in favor of the former.

Eastern Star Meeting Tonight.

There will be a meeting of the local chapter of the Eastern Star at the Masonic rooms in the Wilson building at 7 o'clock this evening. A full attendance of the members is desired.

Ships Horses.

Douglas Thomas yesterday shipped four of his fine trotters and pacers to Columbus, O. State Fair where they will be raced. Mr. Jas. Hukle is in charge and will drive them.

Mayer Sold to White Sox.

A press report says: "Catcher Mayer, the sensation of the Blue Grass League, will not go to Minneapolis after all. Mayer is pointed for higher company. He has been sold to the Chicago White Stockings by Manager Cantillon, of the Millers, who had an option on the Paris backstop."

Base Ball Season Nearing End.

Just one week separates us from the close of the Blue Grass League season and Paris is just four full games in the lead in the race for the pennant over her nearest contender—Lexington. Rain prevented the game with the Pioneers yesterday afternoon at Richmond and if it is decided to play a double header there this afternoon Paris will have just eight more games before the close, and with an even break should come out the best in the majority of the contests.

While Paris is four games ahead of Lexington there is yet a chance for the Lexington crew landing the pennant, but such success is hardly probable, owing to the class of ball the locals have been playing and having the majority in the series with each club, it is more than likely they can pinch off enough of the remaining games to pull through, even if during the week they should suffer a slump. The pennant has already been conceded to Paris by expert followers of the game and nothing short of a miracle can force them out of the position they hold.

Wednesday being an open date, there will be no game for Paris and Thursday they will meet the Lawmakers on the local lot. Friday the Hustlers will be the attraction at White Park and on Sunday the Lawmakers will return for their final tilt with the McKernan men.

That Maysville is to close the season here on September 4 is an assurance of at least two games of the remaining few, as Maysville has never won a game on the local grounds and it is hardly probable the "goat" will be untied on this occasion.

Parents Relented.

The romance of Walter Onan, aged 16, and Lizzie Griffie, aged 15, of Frankfort, starting on their elopement to Lexington last week to get married, resulted in their arrest and Onan's being sent to the workhouse, reached its climax when Onan and Miss Griffie were married Sunday. The marriage license used was the one secured in Lexington. The bride's parents had relented.

Candidates Announce.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcements of Dr. Wm. Kenney, Mr. D. C. Parrish and Mr. Wm. B. Ardery, from the second Ward, Mr. John McCarthy from the Third Ward and Mr. L. Wollstein from the First Ward, as candidates for Councilmen, subject to the action of the Democratic primary September 22.

Foundation Completed.

The foundation for the residence to the county jail has been completed and contractors will immediately begin laying brick. The work is being pushed with all haste that the building may be complete before extremely cold weather sets in and it is expected the residence will be ready for occupancy by the middle of October.

Donations For Fair Dinner.

The dinner privileges at the Bourbon Fair having been awarded to the Bourbon County Hospital League, donations are being received from all parts of the county. So far their appeal for supplies has met with a ready response. A large number of our people have donated old hams, lambs, etc. The proceeds derived from the dinners which will be served during the fair will go to the hospital fund, which it is hoped will be sufficiently large to begin the erection of a hospital in this city this spring. The league deserves a liberal patronage which should be accorded in this worthy undertaking.

Negro Arrested.

Chas. Hall, negro, wanted in Lexington on a larceny charge, was arrested at the camp of the Price Construction Company yesterday afternoon by Detective D. B. Veal, of Lexington, and Deputy Sheriff W. F. Talbott.

Hall is wanted in Lexington for the theft of a suit case from the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, the offense having been committed in that city on September 20.

The negro, several days ago eluded two of the Lexington officials who had been sent in search of him, and made his way to Paris, where he secured employment with the construction company. Detective Veal learned of his whereabouts and came to Paris yesterday and in company with Deputy Sheriff Talbott visited the camp where they found Hall, who was taken into custody. Detective Veal returned to Lexington with his prisoner on the 3 o'clock interurban car.

Close your eyes and listen to the great artists singing on the Victor and you'd really think the singers themselves were actually in the room.

Summer Guests

"The Pikes live a quarter of a mile down the road from me," said the girl who owned a summer cottage. "They have one of those simple little places of about twenty acres, with its own bathing beach and melon patch and gold plated chicken yard and manicured cows and tomatoes worth $1 a piece. If a fallen twig six inches long is allowed to remain on the lawn the head gardener gets into a lot of trouble. One slug discovered on the rose bushes causes his discharge."

"The Pikes are especially proud of their kitchen garden, where they raise things that cost them ten times what they would pay for the same things in the grocery store. But the things the Pikes raise are worth the price. You really wouldn't believe their strawberries if you saw one suddenly with no preparation. As for the green peas—actually, those peas should be framed and hung on the wall just to be looked at!"

"Well, the Pikes had a guest over Sunday, a large, beefy, important gentleman who had made his money late in life and who enjoys entering electric lighted cafes and tipping the waiter with a $5 bill. They thought they would give him a genuine treat, something he did not get every day, a dish that would make him exclaim joyously. So they had the first picking of June peas with the broiled chicken for dinner."

"The guest did not observe the breathless hush with which the peas were offered him, but he helped himself bountifully and devoured them in a workmanlike manner, while his hosts watched him expectantly. Nothing happened."

"Mr. Pike coughed. 'Er—,' he began. 'The peas—pretty good, eh? Right from our own garden!'"

"The beefy gentleman dimly felt that something was expected from him. 'Oh, yes,' he said. 'To be sure—the peas. They're good, aren't they? Almost as good as the French canned peas they serve at hotels!'"

"Not having a garden, I do not get my feelings outraged in just the same manner as did the Pikes—but there are times. There was the occasion of the peach tree, for instance."

"Nobody who has not witnessed the setting out in a sunny place of four walking sticks with funny green knobs on them and has not nursed and cherished them for three seasons and spat out spiders and ants and defied curly leaf and the yellow blight and coddled and fussed over them can understand what it means to arrive in the spring and find six or seven fuzzy, unmistakable peaches on each of those trees. It is as exciting a moment as that when you find a baby has cut a tooth! I would go out a dozen times a day just to assure myself that the peaches were all there and no insect was marring them and to tell them how nice it was of them actually to grow before my very eyes on my own trees! That was the summer I asked Pearl over to visit me."

"Pearl is a fascinating young woman, but you will understand her limitations when I say that she would rather walk down State street than through the woods and that she turns pale at the sight of a spider. I believe she regarded the country with bored surprise and came over because she felt sorry for me in my exile. The only time Pearl stepped off the porch when she did not have to I found her out by the peach trees."

"There was a big fat squirrel on the rail fence just now," she said, "eating something so busily that he wouldn't budge even when I threw things at him. There weren't any stones, so I used those hard green things on these trees—they were just right to throw—and he jumped so when the last one hit him."

"I fled to keep from doing violence to Pearl."

"The Vannecks are jolly people and I anticipated their coming with special pleasure. I showed them the place—it takes about five minutes to exhaust the sights of my estate—and with a burst of pride dilated on the fact that even in these wilds there are comforts and that I have a bathroom, with running water. 'Of course,' I added, 'it's cold water, but then just consider having any kind right in the house!'"

"Mr. Vanneck leaned weakly against a wall. 'Do you mean to say,' he got out tragically, 'that you don't have hot water here? No hot water?'"

"You heat it on the alcohol lamp to shave," I explained. 'And for a hot bath we heat it on the kitchen stove and carry it in, but the water is so soft that I prefer the cold tub.'"

"Mr. Vanneck clapped his hand to his brow and went and sat in a corner and moped over the awful calamity of no unlimited hot water. All the time they were here his wife and I spent most of it stoking the kitchen stove so that if Vanneck took a sudden fancy for a hot bath there would be plenty of water."

"The thermometer stood above 90 and every one was going around with perspiration dripping from the end of his nose seeking coolness, but whenever I encountered Vanneck's resigned, reproachful eye I felt that I had blighted his comfort. Mrs. Vanneck tried to apologize. She said he was so dependent on the ordinary comforts of life and that one had to humor him."

"If I were married to Vanneck I know how I'd humor him—I'd tie him in a bag and sink him in the coldest spot in the lake!"

Catarrh is not only dangerous but it causes ulcerations, death and decay of bones, kills ambition, often causes loss of appetite, and reaches to general debility, idiosyncrasy and insanity. It needs attention at once. Cure it by taking Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.). It is a quick, radical, permanent cure because it rids the system of the poison germs that cause catarrh. At the same time Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) purifies the blood, does away with every symptom of catarrh. B. B. B. sends a tingling flood of warm, rich, pure blood direct to the paralyzed nerves, and parts affected by catarrhal poison, giving warmth and strength just where it is needed, and in this way making a perfect, lasting cure of catarrh in all its forms. Druggists or by express, $1 per large bottle, with directions for time cure. Samples sent free by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe your trouble and free medical advice given. Young Women

Read what Cardui did for Miss Myria Engler, of Faribault, Minn. She says: "Let me tell you how much good Cardui has done me. As a young girl, I always had to suffer so much with all kind of pain. Sometimes, I was so weak that I could hardly stand on my feet. I got a bottle of Cardui, at the drug store, and as soon as I had taken a few doses, I began to feel better. Today, I feel as well as anyone can."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Are you a woman? Then you are subject to a large number of troubles and irregularities, peculiar to women, which, in time, often lead to more serious trouble.

A tonic is needed to help you over the hard places, to relieve weakness, headache, and other unnecessary pains, the signs of weak nerves and over-work.

For a tonic, take Cardui, the woman's tonic.

You will never regret it, for it will certainly help you.

Ask your druggist about it. He knows. He sells it.

A Fidgety Age.

Repose of manner was considered at one time essential to the well bred woman, but this is an ideal consigned to the past. Every one fidgets in these days, no one has time to sit still, nor to listen for more than a minute at a time without being bored and showing it.—From the Queen.

Life Saved at Death's Door.

"I never felt so near my grave," writes W. R. Patterson, of Wellington, Texas, "as when a frightful cough and lung trouble pulled me down to 100 pounds, in spite of doctor's treatment for two years. My father, mother and two sisters died of consumption, and that I am alive today is due solely to Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. Now I weigh 187 pounds and have been well and strong for years." Quick, safe, sure, its best remedy on earth for colds, coughs, lagrippe, asthma, croup and all throat and lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Oberdorfer.

Common Philanthropy.

Some people are so anxious lest men should be spoiled by the possession of too much money that they strive to get it all themselves. This kind of philanthropy is not uncommon.

Tortured for Fifteen Years.

by a cure-defying trouble that baffled doctor, and resisted all remedies he tried, John W. Modders, of Moddersville, Mich., seemed doomed. He had to sell his farm and give up work. His neighbors said, "he can't live much longer." "Whatever I ate distressed me," he wrote, "till I tried Electric Bitters, which worked such wonders for me that I can now eat things I could not take for years. It's surely a grand remedy for stomach trouble." Just as good for the liver and kidneys. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c at Oberdorfer's.

Best Wood for Violins.

Stunted maple trees, grown in mountainous regions, where the winters are long and severe and the snowfall considerable, furnish the best wood for violins, in the opinion of the German makers.

BUILD UP

in spring and summer, it's the natural time to store up health and vitality for the year.

Scott's Emulsion is Nature's best and quickest help.

Considerable Counting.

A report recently issued by the treasury department shows that there are 150,098,025 $1 bills in circulation. We assume that they are counted every night by the wives of the men who happen to have possession of them.

WASH THAT ITCH AWAY

It is said that there are certain springs in Europe that give relief and cure to Eczema and other skin diseases. If you knew that by washing in these waters you could be relieved from that awful itch, wouldn't you make every effort to take a trip to Europe at once? Would you not be willing to spend your last cent to find the cure?

But you need not leave home for these distant springs. Relief is right here in your own home town!

A simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients as compounded only in D. D. Prescription will bring instant relief to that terrible burning itch, and leave the skin as smooth and healthy as that of a child.

If you have not already tried it, get at least a 25-cent bottle today. We assure you of instant relief.

EL CAMILO OF WEST POINT

Ancient Spanish Cannon That Was Captured by the American Troops at Monterey.

Among the old guns from past wars on Trophy Point there is one that is fondly remembered by every graduate of the West Point military academy. It is "El Camilo," literally "The Camel," a relic of the Mexican war, but dating far back of that.

This antiquated piece of ordnance, which is three parts silver and painted a light green, bears its name and the royal coat of arms of Spain over an inscription relating that it was the property of the Regiment of the Golden Fleece, commissioned under Ferdinand and Isabella at the time when Columbus set out on his famous voyage to discover a new world. It would be interesting to know what the Spanish grandees would have thought if they could have foreseen that the very cannon which probably thundered God-speed to the explorer would one day be captured by the unborn nation of the undiscovered continent to which Columbus was bound. The ancient gun was probably brought to Mexico as part of the armament of a Spanish ship, and many years later was pressed into service in the Mexican army, where the "sinews of war" were always at a premium. It was taken at Monterey by the Americans and sent to West Point as the most appropriate place for such an interesting relic. In former years it was mounted and pointed its tapering, old-fashioned muzzle out over the glassy Hudson just as wickedly as it did when the gunners of the old Spanish regiment used to send the fire leaping from its throat, but lately it has been dismounted and laid with other trophy guns in a long row on the grass, where it affords a seat for the tired excursionist.

Rubber Paving.

The prophecy of the president of the rubber exhibition, held at the Agricultural hall, that the time will soon come when the price of rubber would be low enough to make rubber paving an accomplished fact in the streets of London, is excellent hearing. Whenever one comes across one or other of the few specimens of rubber paving which are to be found at present in the metropolis, one experiences a sense of grateful relief. But up till now a wider use of this material for such a purpose has been prohibited by the question of expense, although it has been thoroughly recognized that as a substitute for the ordinary materials used in paving the streets, rubber offers enormous attractions. If it could be employed in large quantities in certain localities, London, one imagines, would be a happier place. For there is no doubt that, as things are, the increase of traffic must be attended with increase of noise, and that, though Londoners may become dulled, by painful habit, to the ceaseless roar, the nerves of the community are certainly, even if unconsciously, in a state of tension. At the same time, however, we trust that the evil will not now be allowed to go unchecked simply because there is a chance that the adoption of rubber paving is likely to cure it in the future.—London Globe.

Prehistoric Art.

On the side of a steep down in the old town of Cerne Abbas, Dorset, England, a huge figure of a man appears cut deeply in the hard turf. It is a creation of a period hidden in the mists of antiquity. The body resembles that of the simian, the arms are unusually long and outstretched, as are the legs. The right hand grasps the handle of an enormous club, and the general attitude suggests pursuit of game.

The head seems sunk between the shoulders, and the face, which is roughly cut, exhibits an uncanny leer. Students of types attribute "the giant," as the Dorset figure is called, to the bronze age. The figure has been cared for throughout the centuries of its existence. Originally it is supposed to have been regarded as bringing good luck to the people during the Celtic and early English epochs. It receives attention now on account of its quaintness and age.

The Dorset giant is incised in the turf after the manner of the Long Man of Wilmington and the White Horse of Berkshire and elsewhere. The turf is so hard that the outlines of the figure have been preserved intact for many centuries.

Remarkable Feat of Aged Man.

A wonderful feat of endurance has just been accomplished by an old man, ninety-two years of age, named Herbst, who returned to his native town of Zurich the other morning. Lately he set out on foot from Zurich for the Tyrol, on receiving a letter that his mother, aged one hundred and fourteen, was dying in a village near Innsbruck. Herbst did not have sufficient money for the railway fare, but he knew the country and the mountain passes, and he decided to undertake the long journey alone. He found his mother dead, but was in time to be present at her funeral. After a week's rest the old man started back for his Swiss home over the same route. He says he will never cross the mountains again. He was formerly a guide in the Tyrol.

Its Bounds.

Second Ditto—It looks at present as if it would be in Morocco.

A Reader Cures His Constipation—Try It Free

Simple way for any family to retain the good health of all its members

The editors of "Health Hints" and "Questions and Answers" have one question that is put to them more often than any other, and which strangely enough, they find the most difficult to answer. That is "How can I cure my constipation?"

Dr. Caldwell, an eminent specialist in diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels, has looked the whole field over, has practiced the specialty for forty years and is convinced that the ingredients contained in what is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the best claim to attention from constipated people.

Its success in the cure of stubborn constipation has done much to displace the use of salts, waters, strong cathartics and such things. Syrup Pepsin, by training the stomach and bowel muscles to again do their work naturally, and with its tonic ingredients strengthening the nerves, brings about a lasting cure. Among its strongest supporters are Mr. John Graveline of 98 Milwaukee Ave., Detroit, Mich., and Mr. J. A. Vernon of Oklahoma City. Thousands of others of both sexes have written to Dr. Caldwell telling of gratifying results. It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, or if you want to try it first a free sample bottle can be obtained by writing the doctor.

For the free sample address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 402 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Bloodine

We Know - BLOODINE - Will Help You To Regain Your Strength and Energy.

Report of the Head Physician in a Leading New York Hospital on the Cure of Catarrh.

"A few years ago we considered that we were doing well if we cured ten per cent. of the cases of catarrh brought to us, but since the introduction of 'Bloodine' into our hospital we cure more than 90 per cent. of all the cases of Catarrh in its various forms brought to us. Catarrh of the Head, Catarrh of the Eyes, Catarrh of the Bladder and Urethra, Catarrh of the large intestines, Catarrh of the Larynx, Pelvic Catarrh, Catarrh of the Throat, and Catarrh of the Stomach are quickly cured with 'Bloodine.' It builds new tissues, gives new energy, new life, new blood and strength to any part of the body attacked by the Catarrhal germs."

Bloodine is a powerful tonic, nourishing food medicine composed of valuable tonic stimulants obtained from vegetable drugs. "Bloodine" contains no narcotics or other dangerous drugs which merely deaden pain temporarily, but give no permanent relief or cure the cause of your disease. "Bloodine" is a powerful body builder and blood maker; it is the best remedy known to the medical profession to enrich thin, watery blood and supply new, rich red blood to the whole body.

Among those from a distance who attended the funeral of Mrs. I. F. Chanslor were: Mrs. Abel Reese, Mr. Abe Reese, Miss Jennie Reese, Mr. Chas. Reese, Mr. Henry Reese, Mrs. Henry M. Pyles and Mr. Henry M. Pyles, of Helena Station, and Mr. Chas. Jefferson, of Maysville.

Mrs. I. F. Chanslor, of Millersburg, died at the Good Samaritan Hospital.

Lexington, Thursday morning at 11 o'clock at the age of 70 years. She was taken to the hospital in a critical condition, but it was hoped that an operation would save her life. The operation failed to bring relief.

She is survived by her husband and eight children as follows: Mrs. Frank Armstrong, Maysville; Mrs. Berry Bedford, Lexington; Mrs. Tom Wilson, this place; W. T. Chanslor, Little Rock; Misses Anna, Florence and Lillian, living at home and Mr. I. F. Chanslor, Jr., of Maysville. The remains were brought here Thursday night and taken to her late home where the funeral services were held Friday afternoon. Burial in Shannon cemetery Saturday morning. Mrs. Chanslor was a Miss Reese, of Mason county before her marriage to Mr. I. F. Chanslor. The family have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in this, their hour of trouble.

Master Ellis Troy, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Troy, Jr., entertained a number of his little friends with a birthday dinner Friday evening.

Misses Mattie McIntyre and little niece have returned after a visit to Lexington. They were accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Chas. Howard, of Lexington.

Cost of Living.

The award of six cents to a Brooklyn woman, kissed without her consent, shows that in some respects the cost of living in that borough is not unreasonably high.—New York World.

Whistling Kettle.

A new whistling kettle has a long, narrow neck at the top, by which it is both filled and emptied. This is covered by a cap the length of the neck, and at the top of this is a whistle which acts directly the kettle boils by reason of the steam passing through it.

Properly Applied.

"This paper," remarked an Irish woman to her husband as they sat at tea, "says that some feller declares there be sermons in stones. Phwat d'yez think av that?" "O! dunno about the sermons," replied the good man, "but many a good ar-gument has come out ov a brick. O!m thinkin'."

Amateur Aeroplanes.

Very small boys of the East side have solved unconsciously the principles of the box kite and the aeroplane. They take an ordinary paper bag, cut the end out of it so that it remains merely a cylinder of paper, tie a short bit of string to the end where the bottom used to be for a tail, then attach the end of a spool of thread to the opposite end of the bag. The improvised kite flies easily and steadily as high as the roofs of the tallest tenements.—New York Sun.

Good Market for Planos.

There is probably no country in the world where pianos are more used in proportion to population, and considered more necessary as features of home life, than in Australia. No matter how humble the home or how remote it may be from large cities, a piano is usually a leading feature of it. About 15,000 pianos are sold every year in the country.

Woman's Reason.

Elliott R. Hooten of Indianapolis was questioning a woman who was a reluctant witness, and he inquired: "Why did you leave that hotel?" "I object," shouted her attorney. Then began a wrangle concerning the admissibility of the question, which the court finally decided to be perfectly proper. Mr. Hooten then said: "Now, madam, please tell us why you left that hotel." "Well," she said, "just because."

SURF RIDING IS FINE

KANAKA STANDS AMIDST THE SWIFT RUNNING WAVES.

Jack London's Vivid Description of This South Sea Amusement as Practiced at Waikiki Beach.

Much has been written about the native sport of surfing in the South seas, but the following description from London's "Cruise of the Snark," is novel and very vivid. The locality referred to is Waikiki beach, near Honolulu:

The trees grow right down to the salty edges of things, and one sits in their shade and looks seaward at a majestic surf thundering in on the beach to one's very feet. Half a mile out, where is the reef, the white heading combers thrust suddenly skyward out of the placid turquoise blue and come rolling in to shore.

And suddenly, out there where a big smoker lifts skyward, rising like a seagod from out of the welter of spume and churning white, on the giddy, toppling, overhanging and downfaling, precarious crest appears the dark head of a man. Swiftly he rises through the rushing white. His black shoulders, his chest, his loins, his limbs—all is abruptly projected on one's vision. Where but the moment before was only the wide desolation and invincible roar, is now a man, erect, full statured, not struggling frantically in that wild movement, not buried and crushed and buffeted by those mighty monsters, but standing above them all, calm and superb, poised on the giddy summit, his feet buried in the churning foam, the salt smoke rising to his knees, and all the rest of him in the free air and flashing sunlight, and he is flying through the air, flying forward, flying fast as the surge on which he stands. He is a Mercury—a brown Mercury. His heels are winged, and in them is the swiftness of the sea. In truth, from out of the sea he has leaped upon the back of the sea, and he is riding the sea that roars and bellows and cannot shake him from its back. But no frantic outreaching and balancing is his. He is impassive, motionless as a statue carved suddenly by some miracle out of the sea's depths from which he rose. And straight on toward shore he flies on his winged heels and the white crest of the breaker. There is a wild burst of foam, a long multitudinous rushing sound as the breaker falls futile and spent at your feet; and there, at your feet steps calmly ashore a Kanaka.

Green Turtles of Indian Ocean.

Concerning the great turtles of the Southwest Indian ocean a traveler says: "The chelonian, or green turtle (Chelone mydas), is an animal of considerable economic importance to the atoll, for it still occurs in the vast herds which are so often described by early voyagers in the tropics. There appear to be two distinct groups—one resident and small in numbers, the other migratory and visiting the atoll to breed in numbers impossible to estimate.

"The latter arrives in December, and from then to April the sea seems alive with turtle. The females seek the small sand beaches and then ascend them with the rising tide, pushing themselves laboriously above high tide mark. Holes are then dug in the sand by means of the fore flippers until a satisfactory one is obtained, and the eggs, 200 in number, are buried, the turtle returning to sea immediately.

"After forty days the eggs hatch, almost simultaneously, and the young turtles dig their way up out of the sand and go down to the sea in a long procession in the course of which they offer an easy prey to their enemies, the frigate birds and herons. Once in the sea sharks and other large fish eat them, and only 10 per cent. reach maturity."

Smoke Dissipated.

The practical way to obviate the annoyance of smoke is to dissipate it before it leaves the chimney top in a gaseous volume. A German professor believes he has found a way to secure this result without chemical or mechanical aid.

Described in Die Umschau, the professor's chimney is perforated on all sides by what might be called little horizontal windows. As the furnace smoke and gases rise they are mixed with air, both before and after emergence, by the eddy forming action of the wind passing through the openings.

From the time the smoke enters the chimney and reaches the height of the lower openings, which receive the wind from any quarter, the intermingling begins, and in each stage of its upward movement the volume becomes less and less. At the mouth of the chimney the outpour is comparatively small and so diluted with air that only a sheet of dark blue smoke waving like a flag to the leeward is seen, where, under other conditions, there would be a cloudlike column of dense black smoke a mile long.

Chimneys constructed on the professor's plan look not unlike windowed towers.

A Cool Costume.

Rather startling is the announcement in a seaside paper that "tan shoes are very much worn this summer. Hundreds of the cottages wear nothing else." A pair of tan shoes certainly makes a very cool costume.
